John F. Graham

Bio:

As president of Frontline Resources, Inc., John has been moving company performance to new levels for over 15 years. He is the author of the book, I Want A Better Life (Steps to the Next Level). Successful consulting principles used to lead companies through the steps to the next higher levels of performance expand to reach the personal needs of individuals seeking to reach their own objectives of success.

John coaches and assists companies in their journey to achieve heightened performance. By isolating the key business processes and identifying their relative effectiveness, he seeks clarification of the new desired levels of performance for each process. In addition, a road map for success is designed so there is no misunderstanding on how to get there and how to continue the progress. John will take you through the improvement process and help you personally lock into your new level of achievement.

John shares his ideas at conventions, association meetings, and client company events and is a welcomed and accomplished motivational speaker. Attendees conclude that their participation in John's sessions motivated them to move their personal lives and their companies to new levels of performance and profitability.

You will also find John's business management expertise in his regular column written for the Pipeline and Gas Technology magazine. John holds a Mechanical Engineering degree and an MBA. He, his wife and two children live in Sugar Land, Texas.
